A Point Well Taken!

The state railroad commission, acting under the authority of advanced position, require the passenger roads of the winders of all passenger coaches. The commission might take still a more advanced position by requiring the companies to provide windows that can be "raised" in an emergency. TRAGEDY OCCURRED WEDNESDAY NIGHT OF LAST WEEK; MAN WHO DID SHOOTING MADE ESCAPE; MURDERED MAN WELL KNOWN HERE.

Judge W. W. Brandon, of Tuscaloosa, candidate for Governor of Alabama, addressed the voters of Elba at the courthouse on Monday afternoon. The room was well filled and quite a number of ladies were in the audience.

Judge Brandon is a former Elba citizen who was born and reared here, but for the past several years a resident of Flora, was fatally shot at his home in Flora on last Wednesday night. He died Thursday afternoon. His body was found in Elba received the news of his death with genuine regret. The Flora News of last week carried the following account of the shooting:

The first shooting case to occur in Flora in a long time occurred on Wednesday night when Calib Reeder shot and most probably fatally wounded Abb Hammonds at the Hammonds home near Searcy's store in the west part of town.

It seems that Reeder had collected five dollars from a negro who had been working for him and was to pay for it weekly installments and had failed to turn the money over to Hammonds. In reference to this the two men are said to have had some words the night before the shooting.

Since the beginning of the Farm Bureau movement in this state and county little more than one year ago Mr. Alford has taken a very substantial and important place in the cotton pool and is a capable business man and leader as Mr. Alford has proved himself to be.

The farmers of these four counties who are in the great cotton pool are to be congratulated on having at their disposal the services of the State Board of the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association as its chief executive. He went into detail in explaining the "Nine Points" in his platform and he was a point to be noted that he had finished every one present was satisfied that his platform was a very reasonable one and one also which can be carried out. He is a negro and is the point in his platform which the Judge spoke on:

1. A reduction in taxation.

2. Reduction in expenses of government, and the cutting to the bone of all departments and economizing in every practical way.

3. Abolition of tax adjustments and field agents of the State Tax Commission, and all other unnecessary employees of the State.

4. Maintenance of the present prohibition laws and strict enforcement of the same.

5. Keeping the State Government in the hands of the people, and removing as far as possible, the tendency to centralize government.

6. No reduction in Confederate pensions.

7. No reduction in appropriations for education or elementary institutions.

8. Liberality towards the State's necessary institutions for its unfortunate, and its development of the human race.

9. A poor State and rich people, rather than a rich State and poor people.

He addressed the audience in his speech and expressions from many of the different people who were present on the occasion, he will have the major portion of the votes in the final count on the 8th of August.

After Judge Brandon had finished speaking Editor J. C. McLean of Luverne and Mr. George H. Smith, of Luverne, who are candidates for Senator from this district spoke to the voters for a few minutes.

There were no eye witnesses to the tragedy, but two men who were nearby testified that they heard nothing preceding their discovery of McCoy's dead body.

During his trial, the defendant, it is stated, was asked if he had any knowledge on the theory of self defense, declaring that McCoy, provoked at the defendant's handling of a mule with which he was ploughing struck him with a hoe handle and then was about to strike him with the blade of the hoe when the defendant struck McCoy's arms, seized a mattock from the ground and struck McCoy, also striking him again after he fell.

MICKIE SAYS

THEY ARE STILL EFFEMINATE

The A.P. reports that London's smart women have introduced the fashion of pipe smoking, which has been adopted by all. The pipes usually are small and of rich briar or meerschaum with slender stems and gold rings. Virginia tobacco flavored with attar of roses or some Oriental perfume, is favored by the girls.

But our girls are still very much pipe-dipped snuff. Men countered by also acquiring the habit and doing very well with it, until they became more or less ashamed of it and quit. Pipe-smoking among women is new, although it is new for polite women of the educated, sophisticated classes to do so. When men smoke pipes, cleaned or uncleaned without batting an eye. Men and women smoke cigarettes with equal grace—or disgrace according to the point of view. Men, however, are still two lengths ahead of their sisters in the tobacco field. They smoke cigars and chew tobacco. Since the days of George Sands we have known of no women who could smoke cigars, and we know of none who can chew cut-plug and spit across the road. There are women who do not drink whisky. But this is a rare use of bravado. It is not a genuine vice with them. Anyway our theory is that they are still weaker than men hold until they take to cigars and chew tobacco. It takes a man to use the weed in the raw!—Montgomery Advertiser.

SOME DINNER

The bill for what in 1783 was well fed a banquet one given by His Excellency the Governor and Council of New York in compliment to their excellencies the Minister of France and General Washington, etc., shows that for $750 there was furnished the 120 diners 250 glasses of Madeira wine, 36 bottles of port wine, 30 bottles of beer, and 30 bowls of punch besides the collation. A charge of $35 is made in the bill for "60 wine glasses and 8 cut decanters broken." The farther back you go, the good old days get more and more like this.—Exchange.

The little village of Pera was a scene of a virile pilgrimage all day Tuesday after the news came to Samson that a supposed crime had been committed. Hundreds of people went to the river and inspected the scene of the tragedy.

WHITE MAN SHOT AND KILLED; BODY IS THROWN IN PEA RIVER

FOUL CRIME IS ENACTED AT PERA, NEAR SAMSON, EARLY LAST WEEK; WHITE WOMAN AND MEN ARE BEING HELD IN THE CASE.

Murdered and thrown into Pea river stands Monday night the bright bell-toned corpse of Bob Chambliss, a white man, was fished out of the stream near the Louisville & Nashville bridge just west of Pera, three miles from Samson. Tuesday morning.

A coroner's jury impaneled by Mr. Russell and composed of A. J. Wesley, C. C. Holley, Sr., John Weeks, William Paul, David White and Warren McCollough, held a partial investigation of the murder and adjourned until today.

Chambliss' head had been貫ed by four bullets either one or two of which would have caused death. The other two might not. One bullet had entered the head from side to side. The other two entered the side of the face. There was a bruise on the forehead. The bullet was found to be at least 100 bushels he should make a fine profit on his crop for 1922.

SHERIFF GAMBLE SECURES HOME FOR IDA BARBER

Ozark Star says:

Since the charge of mistreatment of Ida Barber, the young woman, by the two who completed last week, Sheriff Gamble has been trying to secure the young girl a home. He took the matter up with Mrs. Bush, who is in charge of the Child Welfare Department of the State. A representative from this department was here Monday and after going to the matter he recommended that the two who had been in the neighborhood, also, were also missing. Sheriff J. A. Driver arranged for Powers woman Tuesday night and put her in the county jail.

Until the body of Chambliss had been recovered and the woman located near Geneva, she was uncertainty as to which one was in the river, or whether both were there.

Chambliss had last been seen alive about 7:30 Monday evening, according to Bay Weeks and he was at Chambliss' house about the time when Chambliss asked him for a loan of Weeks' revolver, a .32 automatic. Weeks told him it was his house. Chambliss left and later Weeks found his revolver missing, although it contained no cartridges. No weapon was found on Chambliss' body.

Chambliss had been separated from his family, consisting of a wife and four children, for some four months, according to Weeks, at public auction, at the Court house door in Coffee County in the town of Enterprise, Alabama, within the legal hours of sale, on Saturday the 1st day of May, 1922, the following described property, was sold:

One vacant lot bounded North by J. H. Watson, East by Mrs. W. E. Law, South by W. E. Peters, West by Watson Street in Enterprise Coffee County, Alabama.

THE OLD MAID KNOWS JUST HOW TO REAR CHILDREN, THE BACHELOR KNOWS JUST HOW A WIFE SHOULD BE HANDLED, AND EVEN A BALD-HEADED DRUGGIST CAN SELL HAIR TONIC AND GET AWAY WITH IT. AMERICAN AVIATORS SEIZED BY MEXICANS IN LOWER CALIFORNIA

San Diego, Cal., June 26.—Twenty-four Americans and the airplane in which they were traveling, were seized today by Mexicans in Tecate, Lower California, following a forced landing in the scrub-skirts of that town, according to information received by government officials here.

Government officials at the San Diego customs office this afternoon stated the airplane was a commercial machine and that they had received the names of the four men, two of whom were believed to be authentic and two fictitious. All information regarding the names of the two men and their mission was refused.

LOCKING the STABLE AFTER the Horse is GONE

Yes, in one way or another, we all do it—not literally, but figuratively speaking. We all know we shouldn't do certain things, yet we keep on doing them until the inevitable happens.

You know you shouldn't carry large sums of money about, and you know you shouldn't leave it in your safe or hide it away—yet how many do it!

Carelessness, sometimes; unnecessary tardiness in starting for the bank—there are many excuses. The "inevitable" may never happen to you, and it may happen the very next time.
